

Maya Pajevic

Patient advisor and advocate for AHS and nationally.

Maya is described as a passionate change agent as well as a positive trouble maker. She has a severe allergy to the status quo, and thus uses her experience as both a patient and patient advisor to build relationship and shift the way healthcare is delivered. With patients at the centre of care.

Maya is currently a Mount Royal University student, working towards a degree in Information Design as well as a double minor in social innovation and marketing.

Maya is always planning and thinking about her next adventure- whether that's skydiving, next ski weekend getaway or traveling to experience different cultures.
