Cecilia Lee

Manager, Health and Wellness Alberta Health Services

Cecilia has been exploring entrepreneurship thinking ever since completed her executive MBA at Haskayne School of Business.

Cecilia was part of an international business case competition called Hult Prize and worked with a team of four to solve a world problem and quickly turn the solution into a business. Her team ended as finalists (among 20,000 teams) in San Francisco and pitched their business prototype to the CEO of Twitter, venture capiltalists in Silicone Valley, and NASA executives.

Her passion for design thinking is everywhere in her life! Cecilia's vision is to create human centred technology and solutions within AHS. Artificial Intelligence and computer coding is something that she is obsessed with, and hopes to bring into AHS solutions.
