About me

Paolo Korre is the Director of Service Design for Saint Elizabeth's Futures Team, where he is helping to design the future of aging in Canada. For the past 10 years, he has been using human-centred design to disrupt how the health system works, and find new ways to deliver better experiences for all users.

He has worked extensively with a wide array of health care organizations such as Mount Sinai Hospital, the Toronto Central LHIN, the Veteran's Hospital Administration and has taught design in several university programs, health care institutions, and health care systems in both Canada and the United States. Paolo holds an MBA and a Master of Design from the Institute of Design at the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.
